Invitation to the International Legislators' Day

7 February 2017

London

United Kingdom

Incorporating a seminar, tour to gaming facilities in London and a reception at the Palace of Westminster, this unique event will gather law-makers, regulators, and government officials for a day of networking and educational activities, aimed at sharing of best practice in gaming legislation and regulation from around the world.

From the Co-Chair of the British Parliamentary All Party Betting & Gaming Group, the hosts of the initiative, Philip Davies MP:

'As you probably know, in the U.K. we had a major overhaul of our gambling legislation in 2005 and we are still, over a decade later, debating various aspects of the consequences of the new law. We believe that while each gambling jurisdictions' issues are unique, there are concerns such as preventing problem gambling, protecting against crime, ensuring the integrity of sports and getting levels of taxation right that are common to all of us. We hope that by getting together and sharing expertise, we can provide our constituents and stakeholders with a more informed approach.'

The working agenda of the day is as follows:

10.00	Arrival at ExCeL for ICE Totally Gaming
10.15	Gaming Legislators' seminar: Spotlight on gaming policy from around the world
